1st International Congress on

Borderline Personality Disorder

1 - 3 July 2010

bcc Berliner Congress Center

Berlin, Germany

Dear Colleagues,

It is a great honour for us to host the 1st International Congress on Borderline Personality Disorder from 1 to 3 July 2010. We are pleased to invite you to join us in Berlin, the historic German "borderline" metropolis where now East meets West in the beating heart of a changing Europe.

Over the last years, both basic and applied research on borderline personality disorder (BPD) have rapidly emerged. We are sure that the launching of a first international congress focussing primarily on BPD is almost overdue.

On behalf of the Board of Directors and the Organizing Committee of the Congress we would like to welcome all scientists from both basic and clinical research interested in studying the biological, medical, social and therapeutical consequences of BPD as well as emotion regulation disorders and impulsivity.

At this congress, top scientists and clinicians will give an insight into their newest contributions to the research on BPD and to the treatment of BPD and related disorders. The variety of symposia will surely be stimulating for all participants.

We are looking forward to welcoming you in Berlin from 1 to 3 July

Yours sincerely

Martin Bohus, MD, Congress President

Thorsten Kienast, MD, Local President

Congress Venue

bcc Berliner Congress Center GmbH
Alexanderstr. 11
10178 Berlin
Germany

Berlin is the leading venue for international meetings in Germany, and ranks fifth in the world listings, continually improving its position as an international congress city. Berlin has that extra something, when it comes to successful international congress staging. Located in the middle of Europe, the city with 4 million inhabitants is now more than a metropolis situated at the meeting point of diverse economic and social events. Congress participants will find an imposing international city, set in a landscape of expansive lakes and forests. The surrounding countryside offers interesting towns and villages, and attractive tours.
